In Memoriam.

Near Fort Worth, on the 13th of February, 83, Jeremian Asbury. The deceased had been a member of the Masonie fraternity for nearly a half of a century, and on the 14th inst, at a called meeting of Fort Worth lodge, 148, Fi & A. M. the undersigned committee reported the following facts and resolutions; which were adopted by the lodge.

Brother Asbury was born in the state of Kentucky. March 30, 1812, and attached himself to our fraternity shortly after he attained his majority. He was married three times; first to Miss Elizabeth Daily in 1834; then to Miss Hardin in 1854, when he emigra-ted to Texas, and settled in Tarrant county in 1855. He has resided continuously in this county since that time. He built the first court house and jail for Tarrant county. He married Miss Ward, of Mississippi, in 1879. He was a charter member of our lodge at this place, and had been a member of the Methodist church for fifty years and up to the time of his death.

Resideed, That this lodge deeply regret and most sincerely mourn the loss of our departed brother, Jeremiah Asbury. The deceased died venerable in years and full of honors. He was a Past Master Mason. We deeply sympathize with his bereaved family, and with them confidently expect to meet our brother in the land of the Leal.

/Resolved, That the foregoing be entered upon the minutes of the lodge, and that the family of the deceased be furnished a copy thereof by the secre-

She must have had the confidence of genius when she chose this part for her debut a few weeks ago. It demands versatility, vivacity and sustained tragic force. The talent to play it well is rarely found in one young enough is rarely found in one young enough to look the girlish Cora as it is in Miss Spencer, and this is with a voice musical, distinct and capable of dramatic power without straining. If there is any excess of acting, it is so like the natural exuberance of youth as to appear no fault. The versatility in this character shows that Miss Spencer has talent for a wide range in the drama, in the light shades as well as in the heavy tragic. There is not anything in either line that she may not undertake with confidence that her application will master it. It is a pleasure to greet a young American pleasure to greet a young American star who has genius and fine physical qualifications, and who evidently is not trusting to instinct, but is pursu-ing this as an art to be acquired by study, which shall continually reach to something higher.
